PROFILE

Collaboration is to go beyond human cooperation. The scientific community has devoted many studies to understanding the psychology of alignment among people. Important is the fundamental personality traits that will foster each one's style of engagement in personal identity to security with unity. Modeling "practical wisdom" is required to find collaboration and realize the results in higher achievement, increased retention, positive relationships with colleagues, greater intrinsic motivation, higher self-esteem, greater social support, on-task behavior, and better attitudes toward others. The main advantages of this Train-the-Trainer program for a Better Lebanon is knowledge of individual reality and group procedure for the benefit of all members in the national community, in country and globally - Uniting Lebanon.
